The combination of growing awareness and environmental changes in recent years has left many consumers looking for ways to harvest and use rainwater for supplemental irrigation. One way to accomplish this is through the use of rainwater capture systems that can be placed outside of your home to collect the water that already flows through your homes rain gutters and downspouts. RainGoddess™ collects this water and stores it safely for future use. Our systems provide a fresh spin on this centuries old technology, and is a standout among rainwater capture systems.

RainGoddess™ represents the perfect combination of aesthetically pleasing designs and functionality. While other products only offer one or two basic designs, we offer a number of artfully designed changeable faceplates. Our patented designs, truly give our customers the freedom to “change the face of rainwater capture systems”. We also offer our costumers the option of designing their own graphics to match their personality and home décor. Our compact, rectangular shape is sleek and modern in comparison with bulky, traditional rounded barrel shape. RainGoddess™ eliminates the association between rainwater capture systems and eyesores, and will add to your home’s value and beauty.
